Owl Moon - Education World

Somewhere behind us a train whistle blew, long and low, like a sad, sad song I could hear it through the woolen cap Pa had pulled down over my ears
A farm dog answered the train, and then a second dog joined in They sang out, trains and dogs, for a real long time And when their voices faded away it was as quiet as a dream

Walking the Walk (of the Stations of the Cross)

we stop and be still, waiting for a bus, taxi, or train, in transit to somewhere else Similarly, in this life, we are always waiting on God, en route to heaven The exercise of the stations helps us develop empathy for others who are waiting beside us” (Lent, 58)

Every exit is an entry somewhere else

They're like a railway station with a train going by, but the film is the opposite of that Rosencrantz and Guildenstern rush around Elsinore - Elsinore is like a mysterious, gigantic railway station - and they're a train that keeps making its way through it looking for things In the film they are in search of Hamlet; they
